LOCAL ARTIST ENTREPRENEUR OFFERING DIGITAL WORKS AS NFTs

Saugerties, N.Y. 2/18/22

Artist Brendan Cohan is offering several digital works as NFTs (non-fungible tokens) on the OpenSea platform.

Cohan has been a practicing artist for more than thirty-five years, in upstate New York. His work includes painting, drawing, digital art, photography and sculpture. He has been creating digital art since the early 1990s and is now excited to offer the public a new innovative way to collect and experience his work through NFTs.

“I have always considered digital art another medium to explore creative and visual ideas. Whether it is a portrait, still life or landscape, working digitally has enabled me to see a path forward for many future works, including paintings and drawings.”

Cohan has recently started a website collaboration with an entrepreneur and art collector to help promote his digital and physical art (cohanart.com).
